Dear Klaus,

Thank you for your Diplomarbeit and the translation of the first few pages. I find it very impressive that you have mastered this difficult subject so well.

In your last paragraph you ask for some help with publication. I am not quite clear exactly how I could help, but in any case I should like to invite you to visit my group in London for a day or two to give an informal seminar on your work. That would also provide the opportunity to discuss what other assistance I could give. My diary is quite full, first with Easter activities and then with some College matters, until the end of May. The 31st May/1st June, or 5th/6th June are the first possibilities: how do they suit you?

We can pay your air fare from Berlin and your local expenses here in London. I hope that you can come.

Yours sincerely
